Darker, Richer Tones Suggestive of Autumn Adopted For Evening Wear—Blue in Its Richest, Darkest Tints Called "Night Blue"—Crownless Hats Very Modish—Painted Hair Seen in Vivid Colors—Inattention Makes Liars of Good People—Being Human Is Living Up To the Golden Rule.

HAIR COLORS FOR WEAR

AFTERNOON AND EVENING

Powdered hair is yielding its pre-eminence in novelty costume adoptions to painted hair. This latter variety of fashionable women is just now lifted on a substantial wave of popularity, and from all indications will continue in public favor until it has reached more fantastic heights than are now dreamed of.

For instance, so far the various shades adopted for afternoon and evening wear have been confined to the darker, richer tones suggestive of autumn and its many varied moods, though one head of hair lately seen at an ultra smart function was of vivid peacock blue, matching perfectly the peacock blue of the charming gown.

Green is one of the most popular shades at present—dull green, the shade one sees in a forest towards night at a distance and harmonizing with the color scheme of the dress worn. So far not much contrasting of color between gown and hair has been attempted. This hair painting is still in its embryonic stages, and its success not sufficiently assured. Imperious though Dame Fashion may be, she knows how largely she depends after all on the caprice or whim of her public.

Blue in its richest, darkest tints, the blue that Parisians fondly term "night blue," is much in vogue by those who consider that shade befitting to their particular style of beauty. Blue eyed women with fair complexions and gold pale hair have a natural predilection for the gorgeous purple shades, the deep, deep purples that resemble nothing so much as an over-ripe plum.

One gown worn with this purple coiffure was of amber and dark purple, with edgings of rhinestones and crystals at the bodice and on the flounces to lead a bizarre and oriental effect to the whole. In the hair was worn a feathery ornament—flowers and ribbons still making no headway into public favor as hair accessories—purple shaded and dripping with crystal. This combination was seen in the evening. It is a little hard to imagine the tout ensemble as exactly pleasing in the vivid sunlight of midday.

The crownless hats are coming in to greater vogue than ever, as they display themselves so gracefully to the role of displaying the colored hair. Furthermore these same turbans are decidedly chic. Generally of black velvet they are trimmed with a single fantastic ornament, a black aigrette, elaborately studded with tiny blue wings or gorgeous black paradise that rouses the envy of all women less favored of fortune. Osprey heron, and even gulls dyed a harmonizing shade, are effective as well in these tiny turbans, minus their crown and yet with the mass of hair softly piled up in their center. So far the women to adopt the hair novelty have almost invariably been young and pretty. Somehow the older women and the women less generously endowed by nature have been hesitant about taking it up or figuring in the movement in any way as pioneers. Besides it has not been a perfectly decided point whether or not this hair painting is injurious to the hair. It is done in two ways: by a liquid and by a powder, and only the recklessness of youth and beauty is taking the chances involved. Every one is looking on nevertheless interestedly and conjecturing whether or not before the year is out they will not see hair of vividest blue, deepest and richest pink, gorgeous greens and violets, and yellows and reds of such shade as never before have decorated women.

THE BEAUTY OF ATTENTION.

Inattention makes liars of good people. Those who skim through the newspapers, just glancing enough of the subjects they read to gain a false impression of them, in conversation on those subjects make grave mistakes in dates, names, and situations unintentionally to be sure, but nevertheless mistakes.

Many people go through the world paying almost no attention to any thing. I often wonder if those people do enough with life to give them even a look into the realms of heaven.

How important it is to do something good every day? It need not be a sacrifice—just paying attention to the sorrows and troubles of the less fortunate people. Join a society that makes clothes for orphans or blind babies; there is more godliness in the few stitches put into a little gingham pinafore for a crippled baby than in all the tea parties ever given.

To enjoy the beauties of the world you must be human, and being human is living up to the golden rule.

DIVORCE CASES IN SALT LAKE CITY

Salt Lake, Dec. 13.—James Gibbs was given a decree of divorce from Minnie L. Gibbs by Judge C. W. Morse in the district court yesterday.

A week ago Gibbs sought a divorce but his complaint was thrown out of court for lack of evidence to sustain the charge made. He charged originally that his wife had been guilty of extreme cruelty toward him, but when placed on the stand he testified that his wife had been unfaithful and had accepted the attentions of other men. The court held that this did not constitute cruelty, and advised that the action be brought on a different ground.

Yesterday Gibbs came into court, still charging cruelty, but prepared this time to make good the charge. He told a story on the stand to the effect that his wife had threatened his life, and on one recent occasion had gone to a neighbor's and sought frantically to borrow a gun, with which to make good the threat. The decree was entered and Gibbs was awarded the custody of the children.

Mary Atkinson and William J. Atkinson, both middle aged, entertained the court with a recitation of their financial troubles. Atkinson was before the court on an order to show cause why alimony should not be paid. Mrs. Atkinson declared that she had worked so hard for him during their married life that she had broken her health, and was no longer able to make a living of her own. Atkinson vowed that he was a physical wreck, a cripple, and not able to support himself, left alone his ex-wife. An order was entered directing Atkinson to pay $15 alimony each month.

Four interlocutory decrees were entered by default yesterday. Henry

Simmons; Sarah J. Madden from James Madden; Sina Littlefield from C. M. Littlefield and May Perry from Lloyd Perry.

Final decrees were given Zina Malles from John Malles, Blanche Clark from Otto F. Clark, Clara Burrell from Albert Burrell, Joseph Edmonds from Mildred Edmonds and Florence O'Neill from Chester M. O'Neill.

Frank Koch of Filer, Grace West of Chesterfield and Anna Spengberg and Helen Cherry of Montpelier and Ethel Clayton of Salmon City received honorable mention.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY HAS BROKEN ARM

Leland Allison, son of Carl Allison of the Utah Light & Power company, had his arm broken yesterday afternoon while playing basketball at the high school. Dr. Dunke was called and set the injured arm, the break being between the wrist and elbow. The break was not considered serious by the physician.

Young Allison had made a high jump for the ball and had lost his balance, falling on the hard wood floor, striking on his elbow with considerable force.

In the first game yesterday at the school, the team of the class of '15 proved conclusively to the faculty team that the latter were unable to come back by defeating them by the score of 28 to 19.

In the second game the class of '14 won from the class of '17 by the score of 14 to 9.

SMOTHERED TO DEATH.

Bingham, Dec. 12.—Peter Orlovic, an Austrian miner, aged 24 years, was smothered to death in the Bingham-New Haven mine between 8 and 10:30 o'clock tonight. Early in the evening Orlovic went into the mine to an ore chute. He picked at the ore to start it sliding down the chute into an ore car. There proved to be more ore in the chute than he believed was there. When it was jarred loose it came down and covered him completely. The accident was discovered a short time afterward, and at 10:30 o'clock workmen had dug Orlovic's body from the pile. As there were no broken bones or other injuries, it indicated that the man smothered to death.

SCALY PSORIASIS ON ARMS AND LIMBS

Small Dots Grew Larger. Scales Formed. Looked Horrible. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Troop H, 6th U. S. Cavalry, Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis.—"I was troubled with psoriasis for nearly two years. Portions of my arms and limbs were affected mostly with it. It appeared in scaly form, breaking out in very small dots and gradually grew larger and while scales formed when about the size of an ordinary match-head. The scales were hard, which made it very unpleasant for me. It itched a little at times."

"I tried several remedies, but the trouble seemed to grow worse instead of better, and I tried several treatments which cured me for a month, but it always broke out again. One day a friend saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper and I sent for a sample. They helped me, so I purchased two more boxes of Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap and they completely cured me. It took three months for Cuticura Soap and Ointment to completely cure me." (Signed) Walter Mahony, Oct. 22, 1913.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery, because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to flush kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the chills often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.
